welcome new members!

No way around it: July weather was dramatic everywhere, and especially so in much of our region.

We at MHEC all hope if you or your organization suffered from the historically devastating rains and resulting floods, your recovery is going quickly and the worst is behind you. For everyone else, stay safe and keep on supporting our neighbors.

1st Monday is MHEC's monthly newsletter, offering updates on our portfolio of purchasing contracts, news about our organization, and suggestions for how our contracts can help you save time and money.

Often, our issues have a theme where we discuss how our diverse portfolio can address challenges facing the sectors we serve: municipalities, higher education, k-12 schools, and libraries across New England. This issue's theme is disaster relief.

Just as a rising tide can lift all boats, MHEC knows a flood or other natural disaster is equally devastating to every person, business, and organization it affects. As the below images of Vermont towns reflect, flood waters don't discriminate.

The contracts listed in this issue are ready and waiting for members from all states and sectors to use whenever needed. Some offer preventative services, but many can help cleanup, salvage, and rebuild.

help is a call away

After years of attending the same idyllic summer camp by the pond in Vermont, this year my friend's college-age daughter got the job she'd been dreaming of since she was nine. Head camp counselor.

At the end of June, everything was going swimmingly. The first session of kids went home delighted and exhausted, and the new campers were adjusting well. There were a few bed-wetters and some homesickness, but nothing to write home about.

And then it got hot.

Really hot. And then it started to rain. And it rained hard.

Inside, watching yet another G-rated movie with the now irritable campers, the alert on her phone made the head counselor jump up and turn off the projector. Thunderstorms, high winds, and grapefruit-sized hail was on the way.

Most of the 100-year old camp was made up of tents on platforms. The only basement was under the cafeteria. That's where the head counselor demanded all of the 300 campers shelter themselves.

Outside, the pond became a lake. Ancient trees were swept away like kites. The tents disappeared as if they were tissues. Most of the campers' belongings were lost. The hail dented cars and shattered windows.

But everyone was safe.

Until the floor of the basement became damp. And then wet. And then the water was up to their ankles.

In the end, they all found shelter in the maintenance garage, which was more exposed, but on higher ground. No one drowned, or was even hurt. But most of the soggy campers did contract COVID and needed to be quarantined.

As we are all quickly learning, the above scenario can happen to any of us, anywhere, at any time.

Once the shock subsides after such a calamity, we all want relief to come just as quickly and effortlessly as the trauma did. MHEC contracts are designed to provide exactly that kind of relief for our member organizations across New England. As described within, our contracts offer ready-to-use, compliant solutions that are available whenever you, or your camp counselor, needs them.

MHEC WELCOMES THE FAIRBANKS MUSEUM & PLANETARIUM!

MHEC doesn't just serve New England municipalities, higher education, k-12 schools, and libraries. As long as your not-for-profit has an educational component, membership is free. The Fairbanks Museum in St. Johnsbury, Vermont became a member last month. Their gorgeous, historic building hosts cutting-edge exhibits for all ages.

MHEC Golf Tournament 2023

MHEC's annual golf tournament was a huge success this June. Blue skies and warm weather made for a fine time out on the green. Each year, we pair two suppliers with two members, and these teams play together. In between critiquing each other's swing, there's ample chance to talk shop and make connections. Throughout the course, different sponsors welcomed players at each hole, and at the end of the morning was a lunch and award ceremony. The winning teams are listed below.

MEET THE NEW STAFF

Serving more than 2,500 member organizations across New England, MHEC recognizes the quality of any institution has everything to do with the staff they hire. In our ongoing effort to be the purchasing consortium of choice in the region, we are always on the lookout for people who share both our commitment to excellence and our love of the area in which we live and work. In recent months, we've been lucky enough to expand our capabilities with these four new hires.

Cathy Brunelle
Strategic sourcing
manager

With a background as a senior buyer and procurement specialist in medical engineering and rail manufacturing, Cathy comes to MHEC ready to take on several of our technology-based contracts, including appliances (A01) and network infrastructure (F14). When not busy learning new skills, Cathy can be found either driving in the mountains, or enjoying the stunning coastlines, either of which she loves is a short drive from her home in Western Massachusetts.

Disha Sengar
Data analyst

MHEC has never had a devoted data analyst before, and we're glad to welcome Disha to this new role. Originally from Mumbai, India, she has spent the last two years in Boston, completing her master of science degree in information systems. Disha loves drawing and painting, which helps bring out her creative side when doing data visualization. She enjoys visiting New England's national parks and beaches in the summer, and Vermont's foliage in the fall.

Gabriella Delmonte
Bid coordinator

Gabi fills a much needed position, managing bids for our portfolio of 50+ contracts. She comes to MHEC with 8 years' experience in purchasing and operational finance, greatly expanding our knowledge base and network of connections (relationships she no doubt established with her exceptional baking skills). Collecting vintage Pyrex in flea markets and hiking in the rolling hills of New England are two of her favorite pastimes.

Timothy Tracy
Strategic sourcing
manager

Though born in the Connecticut River valley and living here currently, Tim has lived and worked internationally during his time as a U.S. Marine. Prior to MHEC, he worked in purchasing for the Marines, two hospitals, and an electrical contractor. Tim will be taking on contracts such as multimedia equipment (B11), graduation regalia (B01), and compressed gases (D04). As an avid gardener, Tim enjoys the smells of New England seasons and looks forward to the first snowfall.

MHEC offers a large portfolio of contracts which act as a simple solution during difficult times. Disaster recovery doesn't just include natural disasters. It's anything that disrupts, damages, or causes harm to people, assets, or operations. This issue highlights the contracts and suppliers that can help you mitigate risk or help your organization recover when disaster strikes.

Destruction and loss are often devastating, but not complicated. Rebuilding, though, is never simple. Rarely does one solution fit everyone. All MHEC contracts are available to all our members, and we encourage you to build a team of experts to help see you back to normal. As always, our team is ready to help find what you need, when you need it. MHEC contracts have you covered!

READY-TO-USE, COMPLIANT CONTRACTS

Once the dust settles after a disaster, we all want relief to come as quickly and effortlessly as the initial chaos did.

Designed to improve purchasing efficiencies and lower costs every day for our not-for-profit members, MHEC contracts also work well when help is needed immediately, as in response to a disaster.

In short, MHEC contracts can make your road to recovery shorter and less expensive.

Many of our members join us initially because they know suppliers on our contracts offer discounts (some of them steep) on their products and services. While expanding your budget is a key benefit we offer, it's our ability to eliminate bidding processes that sometimes doesn't get the attention it deserves.

When MHEC was established in 1977, the organization was designed to help the organizations it served save the time always needing to put every purchase out to bid.

With MHEC conducting the bidding process once, it meant members could use the suppliers on our contracts immediately.

This still holds true. While every state has its own laws, the rigorous bidding and award process MHEC follows ensures that our contracts with suppliers comply with state procurement requirements across New England. This makes the products and services on our contracts ready-to-use whenever you need them.

Our contracts often include multiple suppliers offering similar products, or services. If you have time, we always recommend shopping around, doing your due diligence, and asking lots of questions.

But when you need help immediately, the last thing you need is a stack of paperwork to complete and a lengthy process to wait through. That's when MHEC contracts have you covered!

Home Depot has an exclusive rebate program for MHEC members who register directly with the home improvement retailer. (Directions on how to register with Michael Campbell of Home Depot are below.)

By registering your organization with Home Depot, all purchases made in-store and online will go toward earning 3% back when spend is equal to or exceeds $3,000.

G32: Emergency Response

Scott Loomis

Strategic Sourcing Manager, MCPPO
sloomis@mhec.net
413-992-2511

Until recently, it was easy for New Englanders to think that natural disasters were more common elsewhere in the country. Extreme weather events are happening everywhere now. Whether it's hurricanes, tornadoes, fires, or flooding, MHEC's contract for Emergency Response (G32) includes 7 suppliers with a wide range of experience and expertise responding quickly to member need.

Fire, water, storm, and mold are the chief threats this contract responds to. Companies such as Belfor Property Restoration serve customers internationally but are able to respond to disasters locally across our region. Service Master Restore, a national company, guides clients from crisis to resolution using a three step system: analysis, mitigation, and restoration.

Based in Middleton, Massachusetts the NEL Corporation is a general contractor that specializes in bridge and building construction. Serving just the Bay State, they specialize in restoring and rehabilitating structures that have been damaged.

Serving Massachusetts and New Hampshire, Water, Fire, and Mold Restoration Services is a family owned and operated company that specializes in serving municipalities in those states. They take on all kinds of jobs, from simple clean-ups to complex technical and organizational challenges.

G32 has suppliers serving these states:

CT	ME	MA	NH	RI	VT

For help with different abatement, decontamination, and demolition projects, in Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island, Bestech Inc. has an expert team that can help.

Along with restoration and remediation services, Sunbelt Rentals offers emergency response planning and rental equipment. Cooling units, generators, pumps, and scaffolding are all available to MHEC members whenever they're needed, along with earth moving equipment.

Finally, while you're busy rebuilding, you may need a temporary structure. Zmetra Clear Span Structures is a small, Massachusetts-based company that serves all of New England with tents, semi-permanent structures, and multistory tents. Recently, they opened an office in Florida in anticipation of hurricane season, but their services (and those of everyone on the contract) are available immediately to MHEC members.
